

Trade show, Extravaganza coming up

The Reverse Trade Show, where corporations in the area can find out what goods and services are available from local suppliers, and the Christmas Extravaganza, that ever-popular night of shopping, fun and contests, topped the agenda at last week's Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The Reverse Trade Show is being produced in cooperation with the North East Alberta Marketplace, and will provide a new concept on developing local markets in the area. The event will take place on Tuesday, December 7 from 3 to 7 p.m. at the Elk Point Seniors Recreation Centre and will provide an opportunity to bring together sellers and buyers to strengthen the local business environment.

The Trade Show has the buyers behind the tables instead of the businesses. Companies such as Lakeland College, the Town of Elk Point, the Hospital Board, the oil companies and other procurers will provide lists of supplies and services that are normally purchased.

Even the Fort George / Buckingham House Interpretive Centre is getting involved. They plan a demonstration of replicated historical articles that an enterprising artisan could provide for their gift shop or for souvenir outlets in Elk Point. The entrepreneurial ideas will be extremely varied.

The Chamber hopes the Reverse Trade Show will assist regional businesses in a time of slow economic growth. The cost to attend is free.

Plans for the Christmas Extravaganza are well underway. This annual event is scheduled for December 10 and will once again feature shopping specials from 6 to 11 p.m., and a contest for shoppers with $300, $200 and $100 in Elk Point Bucks at stake. To participate in this year's contest, shoppers will receive a draw slip when they make a purchase at any of the participating businesses, which will be entered in a draw box for that store's door prize. At the end of the evening, the slips from all the draws will be combined for the major draws for the Elk Point Bucks, which can be used for purchases at any of the participating businesses.

There will also be a contest for children again this year, with prizes for three age groups: 5 and under, 6 to 8 and 9 to 12, to be won by coloring the picture in the Extravaganza flyer and depositing it during Extravaganza.

A bonfire, Christmas Farmers Market and Mini Craft Fair, seasonal music and a visit from Santa are also planned, and other special events are being considered. Watch for further details as they become available.

President Louise Crane reported that the Community Tourism Action Plan review is now complete. During the process, the tourism assets were listed and she was pleased to see these had increased considerably since the plan was developed in 1988. One of the priorities listed in the revised plan is to improve the physical appearance of the town to draw tourists in. Ms Crane is currently making an inventory of the buildings along Highway 41, Main Street and 50th Avenue, with the goal of making people aware of what is already in place and what improvements can be made.

The Chamber will once again be sponsoring a lighting and decorating contest for homes and apartments, to be judged shortly before Christmas. A decision is still pending on whether to have the usual competition for business decorating, or to try something new: decorating the street light poles outside the businesses.

Fishing Lake asks Town support

Fishing Lake Settlement Council Chairman Randy Parenteau and Council member Wayne Daniels met with Elk Point Town Council on Monday, November 15 to ask for the Town's support in petitioning for road upgrading in that area.

The road from the Frog Lake historic site to Secondary 646 is the main access to Elk Point for the residents of both Fishing Lake and Frog Lake, and is under the jurisdiction of the County of St. Paul. This road carries a large amount of traffic, and needs constant upkeep and repair. Parenteau asked for a letter of support from the Town to ask that this road be designated as part of the secondary road system.

Another road which the Settlement would like to see added to the secondary road system is the loop through the Settlement which connects with Secondary 897.

Parenteau also expressed a concern regarding the way some local businesses do not seem to welcome Settlement members as customers. He noted that a substantial amount of money from that area comes to Elk Point. Mayor Buck suggested that Parenteau approach the Chamber of Commerce with these concerns, and also invited the Settlement to take part in the upcoming Reverse Trade Show, where they can acquaint local businesses with their needs.

Another area of concern was the lack of support for the Settlement's Riel Beach Jam-boree, which was attended by only a minimal number of Elk Point residents. Parenteau feels this event is good for tourism and contributes to the Lakeland area, but was still not well attended.

Other business coming before Council included the possibility of removing Fort George Manor and Buckingham House self contained seniors' housing units from the jurisdiction of the MD of St. Paul Foundation. This

Amoco optimistic

Amoco Canada's capital spending took a big jump in 1994, as new horizontal wells were drilled to counteract the natural drop-off in production from older wells in the Elk Point oilfield. Amoco's Heavy Oil General Manager Bruce Lounds, from the Calgary office, and Elk Point Property Management Team members Randy Best, Calgary, and Ron Johnson, Elk Point, outlined the present activities and hopes for the future in the Elk Point and Lindbergh fields at Town Council's November 15 meeting.

Amoco has been operating in the area since 1984 and has recently streamlined their assets by concentrating on their core businesses: heavy oil production in this and the Bonnyville areas, natural gas, and buying and selling crude oil. They have sold some land and acquired other land, and now have a 66 percent working interest in the Lindbergh field.

At the current time, the Elk Point operating centre controls 165 sections of land, almost all of it south of the river, and has 325 out of a total 873 wells in operation. Amoco currently has 55 employees and full time contractors in the area. They spend $3 million a year on contract services, two thirds of this on well servicing and optimization, and the remainder on facility maintenance and improvement.

Amoco's capital spending in the Elk Point and Lindbergh fields took a big jump from $4 million in 1992 to $7 million this year, and is expected to climb to $9 million in 1994. Three quarters of this was spent on drilling. Amoco drilled their first horizontal well in the summer of 1992, and a second, less successful well, at the end of that year. They have drilled four more to date in 1993 and expect to drill two more by year end. The horizontal wells have opened up new possibilities as they access more of the oil reservoir.

The company's gross daily oil production in the Elk Point and Lindbergh fields has dropped from more than 2500 cubic metres to approximately 1900 cubic metres since early 1992, Randy Best told Council. In the 25 sections which made up Amoco's original Elk Point holdings, this decline has been as much as 25 percent. Best said the decline is essentially in one of the three oil-bearing zones, and that experiments with a different kind of thermal steaming which is hoped will seal off pathways and prevent oil dispersing, are being tried. "You have to be a risk taker," Best said. "There's an enormous reserve, and if we can unlock the technology, there will be a long life for heavy oil."

The 140 sections on the Lindbergh side of the field also offer an enormous potential for growth.

Amoco's future in the area is expected to last into the new century, but the exact length depends on technology and the effectiveness of the secondary recovery methods now being developed. Primary recovery generally extracts only 7 to 12 percent of the resource, while secondary methods extract another 50 to 60 percent. "There are enormous gains to be made if we can find the key," Bruce Lounds concluded.

What's Happening at Community Services

Understanding anger

It's OK to feel angry... it is not OK to hurt someone when you do. When you get mad, instead of hitting, try the following steps:

1. Notice the signs of anger rising

- a tight feeling in your neck, your hands, your face
- a hot feeling somewhere in your body, perhaps your ears
- breath coming faster and harder
- heart beating faster
- voice getting louder
- your own special signs

2. Before the explosion... distract yourself - take time out

- go for a walk or a run
- take a bath or shower
- play the piano or some other instrument
- bake bread
- mow the lawn
- Don't drive your car... you may hurt yourself or someone else

3. Talk yourself down

Don't talk yourself into being more angry by thinking that the person you are mad at is deliberately out to get you or defy you. Tell yourself that they have their own reasons for doing what they are doing that may have nothing to do with you.

Don't exaggerate what's going on. Tell yourself that what is happening is probably not as serious as you think it is.

4. Figure out why you are angry - ask yourself:

Am I really angry at myself or someone else, and am I taking it out on the person close to me?

Am I really feeling hurt, afraid, sad, disappointed, embarrassed or insecure? Are these other feelings coming out as anger?

Am I suffering from fatigue or stress that is triggering my anger?

5. Express your feelings verbally, whatever they are

Describe how you are feeling.

Don't use hurtful words.

Don't blame the other person for how you are feeling.

You are in control of your own feelings.

You alone choose how you feel and act.

(Source: Alberta Family and Social Services - Family Violence Prevention)

Call Community Services at 724-3800 for a list of local resource agencies.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

Applications are still needed for the vacancy on the Community Services Board. The term of office is three calendar years and all applicants must be residents of the Town of Elk Point.

The Community Services

Board is responsible for identification of human needs and planning and implementing programs aimed at promoting healthy lifestyles and enhancing the quality of life in Elk Point. Some current programs and services include: Northeastern Alberta Winter Games, Playschool, Fitness Week, Parent Nursery, Terry Fox Run, Meals on Wheels, Recreation Park Development, Welcome Package, Family Life Education, Volunteer Appreciation Week, Parenting Workshops and more! Work is beginning on planning for the International Year of the Family (IYF) activities as well as hosting the FCSS Spring Conference for Northeastern Alberta.

This can be a very exciting and gratifying position for the right individual. Applications can be forwarded to the Town of Elk Point. Call Community Services at 724-3800 for more information.

Daddy's boy

Sgt. Pat Muzzeral

I was old enough just to understand
When I first saw Mother cry,
It was on a cold November's day
That she sat down with a sigh.

She seemed to be very deep in thought,
A tear rolled down her cheek,
Then her voice, in broken tones,
Softly it did speak:

"Come here," she said, "my little man,
You are becoming quite a lad.
Today I think you are old enough
To hear about your Dad."

I could see she held some photographs
In her lap, with head bent low,
She held me close against her breast
Then said, "I loved him so.

"My baby, my baby," her whisper spoke,
"This picture is your Dad,"
I looked into her tear filled eyes,
Asking "Mommy, are you sad?"

She cuddled me within her arms,
Out loud she mumbled why,
"If only he had seen you
Before he had to die.

"You see, your Daddy had to go away -
I asked him, 'Are you sure?'
He said 'It's something I must do
Because the world's at war.'"

My mother saw my puzzled look,
Saying "Listen, while I explain,
War is like the boogy man,
It scares and brings just pain.

"Sometimes mankind forgets his God,
Bringing Satan such great joy,
Engaging in the games of sin
We become the Devil's toy.

"And deep within the hearts of man
The flames of evil soar,
The quest for power becomes so great,
Leading now to war.

"To such a war your Daddy went,
A soldier off to fight,
Over there so far away
Defending what is right."

"What is right?" I asked my Mom.
I reflected on these words,
I tugged her dress and asked again
In case she had not heard.

"Right, my son, is the road of life
To travel day by day,
Reaching out to the hand of God -
Let Him guide you on your way.

"Love thy neighbor, love thy self,
Encourage others to do the same,
Speak in truth, do not condemn,
Help those who are in pain.

"Don't turn your back on those in need
For there is no greater wealth,
Than reaching out to help someone
And giving of yourself.

"Color, race, creed or birth,
All life you should rejoice -
For all of us and who we are
There really was no choice.

"God's creatures, yes, are each of us -
Extend a helping hand,
By reaching out with tender heart
Toward your fellow man.

"That is what your Daddy did
When he went off to fight
For freedom of the persecuted,
Standing up for what was right.

"You and I and everyone
Must remember those who fought,
The reasons why, and all who died
Lest they be forgot.

"See this flower in my hand?
It's called a poppy, Son,
It tells us to remember
All that Daddy's done.

"Today is called Remembrance Day,
We wear our poppies red,
Thinking of those who died
And all the blood they shed.

"When you hear the bugle sound
The tune is played for peace,
Say a prayer and ask God's help
That all wars may cease.

"Pray that man will understand
The wrongs that have been done,
That hate and anger are not right,
The world must live as one."

Then Mommy said, "Pray for your Dad,
He brought me so much joy,
I loved him so, but I guess you know
For you are your Daddy's boy."

This original poem was read by Sgt. Muzzeral at Remembrance Day 1993 services in Elk Point and has been printed with his permission.

Elks winning streak halted

Elk Point Senior Elks' three game winning streak screeched to an abrupt halt Sunday when they were defeated 11-10 by Marwayne Comets. Earlier games this week provided the Elks with a 5-2 win over Dewberry Mustangs and a 5-4 overtime win against the Bonnyville Pontiacs.

Elks 5 - Mustangs 2

Wednesday night saw a good midweek crowd in attendance for their first home game of the season. The first period saw only one goal, by Dewberry's Ken Lawrence off an assist by Alan Parr, and plenty of lively action. Dewberry brought the score to 2-0 in the opening minute of the second period, with a goal by Jerry Pottle, assisted by Bob Oneschuk.

Dewberry's extremely proactive goalie kept the Elks at bay for more than half a game. They finally hit the scoreboard with 8:32 left on the clock, with a goal by Greg Desaulniers, assisted by Lindsay Jenner and Sheldon Cardinal. Desaulniers popped in another less than two minutes later, this time assisted by Kerry Loughran and Blair Halfe, to tie the game.

The final period belonged to the Elks, with goals by Layne Gauchier, Sheldon Cardinal and a third by Desaulniers. Gauchier's goal was unassisted, while Halfe assisted on the other two and Cardinal on the final goal, which occurred in the last second of play, for a final score of 5-2 in the Elks favor.

Elks 5 - Pontiacs 4

Friday night saw the Elks take an early lead against Bonnyville, with first period goals by Dwayne Karbaszewski, assisted by Jon Olson and Corey Laboucane, and Blair Halfe, assisted by Karbaszewski.

Bonnyville tied it up in the second, with an unassisted goal by Sylvio Vasseur and an assist by Vasseur on a goal by Lee Rancier.

The lead seasawed during the third, with a Bonnyville goal by Chad Lange off assists by Donovan Saretzky and James Logozar countered by an Elks goal by Greg Desaulniers, assisted by Halfe. Bonnyville's Chad Emigh, assisted by Vasseur and Rancier, brought the visitors ahead again for 3 seconds short of a minute, before Layne Gauchier, assisted by Lindsay Jenner and Desaulniers, tied it up for the Elks. Karbaszewski scored the winning goal for the Elks, with 56 seconds left in the 5 minute overtime period, off assists by Desaulniers and Jeff Buck.

Comets 11 - Elks 10

Marwayne took a masterful 4-1 lead in the first period of the Elks' visit to that community on Sunday, with goals by Joe Petrie, Keith Bowers, Kevin Holzinger and Myron Brataschuk, assisted by Mark Brataschuk, Dale Fulkerth, Dale Ridenous and Scott Kurtz. The lone Elks goal of the period was scored by Allan Loughran off assists by Terry Isaacson and Layne Gauchier.

The second period was busy at both nets, as the Elks scored 6 goals to the Comets'4. Greg Desaulniers garnered a hat trick for the Elks, with singles contributed by Kelly Harms, Sheldon Cardinal and Layne Gauchier. Supplying assists were Dwayne Karbaszewski, Kerry Loughran, Jon Olson, Gauchier, Desaulniers and Harms. Mark Brataschuk, Todd Peters, Kevin Holzinger and Gerald Grossl scored the Comets' goals, off assists by J. Petrie, Dale Milne, Myron Brataschuk and Holzinger, to lead the game 8-7.

The Elks tied the score 7 minutes into the final period, with a fourth goal by Desaulniers, assisted by Mike Boratyniec, and took their only lead of the game three minutes later with a second goal by Cardinal, assisted by Desaulniers. Marwayne was quick to regain their lead, with three goals in three minutes, by Milne, Peters and Art Tupper, assisted by Jim Sharpe, Kurtz, Tupper and Grossl. Kerry Loughran scored the final goal for the Elks, assisted by Jon Olson. This left the Elks one goal short, and the 1:13 left on the clock did not provide time for a tying goal.

Heinsburg makes it three in a row

Bruce Campbell

Staff Writer

The Heinsburg Eagles' girls volleyball team gave their coach Adrian Kiss a pretty special birthday present last week.

His third consecutive St. Paul Athletic Association championship.

The Eagles defeated the Ecole Mallaig Stingers 15-8, 8-15, 15-13 at Kihew Asiny Education Centre Wednesday in Saddle Lake.

"A third championship in three years - that's a heck of a present," a delighted Kiss said Thursday. "I'm a happy camper."

Kiss may have turned 37 last week but he might have aged 50 years in the final match against the Stingers.

That was the best County Cup I've seen in years," Kiss said. "It was an hour-and-a-half marathon."

After splitting the first two games, Heinsburg seemed to have their third banner in the bag as they jumped out to an 8-1 lead. But then they were stung.

Heinsburg quickly found themselves down 13-9 at which point Kiss called a a time out.

"I told the girls that it was 'definitely not over here, that we've come back before and we can do it again and don't quit hitting the ball."

The Eagles seemed to be on a collision course towards the championship - literally.

With the score 13-12 Heinsburg's Janet Sanders and Edlyn Smuk collided and play was stopped for about five minutes to fix Smuk's slightly jammed wrist.

The break enabled the Eagles to calm down and catch their breath, according to Kiss.

The Eagles were able to tie the game at 13-13 when the Eagles' Kirsten Sanders made the biggest play of the match.

Sanders was able to stuff Mallaig's Sharon Dechaine's spike attempt to give the Eagles a 14-13 lead.

Heinsburg won the championship on the next volley when a Mallaig shot went out of court by about three inches.

Heinsburg advanced to the finals by beating the Saddle Lake Drillers 16-14, 15-2 in the semifinals.

Mallaig defeated the Regional Saints in the semifinals.

FGM shows their colors

Education Week at Elk Point Elementary School featured a Color Night on Thursday, November 18, as students and parents gathered to salute the school's volleyball teams as they end their season, to offer good wishes to the teams involved in the upcoming basketball season, and to hear the good music provided by the school's up and coming bands.

The evening started with an introduction by MC Denise Amyotte, and an address of welcome by Principal Jim Hawkins. Randall Kryz of the Athletic Department gave special thanks to all who support the programs, especially the coaches from the community.

A highlight of the evening was the unveiling of the school's banner, which was designed by Joni Matthews at the beginning of the year, in response to a contest sponsored by the School Spirit Committee. The banner, unfurled by Students Union representatives Erica Nielsen and Jeff Lypka, features a burgundy and gold crusader against a montage of silver sports equipment. The banner and the County flag are scheduled to accompany the teams when they go on the road to compete.

Jim Hawkins presented golf award medallions to the Senior Girls who placed third in Provincials. Charlene Anderson accepted on behalf of teammates Renee Anderson, Jennifer Jasinsky and Amy Hawkins.

Dalane Huber congratulated the winning members of her Cross Country runners, who performed very well, with both Junior and Senior teams placing third.

The Senior High band combined with their diminished Junior High counterparts (a number of members were away playing volleyball) for several numbers, as well as providing music at the beginning of the evening for the unveiling of the banner, and later in the program.

With the volleyball season drawing rapidly to a close, members of the Senior Boys, coached by Rene Gascon, Senior Girls, coached by Joely Jenner and Tina Harms, Recreational Volleyball, coached by Brenda Bintz, and the Grade 7 Boys and Girls, coached by Jim Hawkins with the assistance of Mrs. Penz, Mrs.

Neilsen, Mr. Hymanyk and Mr. Kryz, were introduced. The Junior High teams, coached by Tanya McLaughlin, Tina Rainboth and Miss Fadi, were away at a game, and arrived just as the crowd dispersed.

A draw for a burgundy and white volleyball was won by Lisa Hallwachs.

Basketball practices are already underway, with the season starting soon. Randall Kryz will coach the Junior Boys, and is trying for the third championship in a row, while Ray Danyluk is coaching Junior Girls. Miss Huber will coach the Senior Boys, whose seasons starts December 7 with a home game, and Curtis Porcina and Rhonda Rupchan will coach the Senior Girls.

Students explore careers

Elk Point Elementary's students looked far into their futures last Thursday, when each student had the opportunity of attending four sessions of their choice at the Mini Career Day.

Representatives of ten varied careers visited the school for the afternoon, and gave half hour presentations to the students. Physiotherapist Trent Farebrother brought along his friend the skeleton to help explain the workings of the human body, while Amal Montasser of the Corfou Restaurant in St. Paul spoke on Hotel and Food Management. Joely Jenner and Paul Primeau represented Pan Canadian Petroleum and told students a bit about work in the oil industry.
